

How Your Chakras and Money Are Connected

What happens in our lives in the outside world is a reflection of what happens in our internal lives. The seven major chakras in the body process different kinds of information. If any chakra is blocked, congested or unhealthy, your life will reflect this imbalance in a negative way.

A healthy root chakra is strongly connected to the energy of the earth, and this shows as positive cash flow. An unhealthy root chakra reflects anxiety, stress and insecurity about money leading to a life in the survival mode where you constantly meet surprise expenses.

The sacral chakra between the navel and the pubic bone is the seat of creativity and it is where you process your feelings about money. A healthy root chakra transforms money energy into real money. When you are angry or sad about money, it will show as money problems in your life and that is a sign of an unhealthy sacral chakra.

The solar plexus chakra is the power center where energy is put into action. When it is healthy you manifest money effortlessly. You may even receive unexpected money owed to you or simply find money. When this chakra is blocked you tend to believe that only hard work brings money. You will use a lot of effort and hard work to make money.

A healthy heart chakra creates a great feeling of deserving lots of money. You treat money as a friend and a lover and it flows to you and sticks to you. If you feel like you don't deserve money or if you feel guilty about making money, your heart chakra is clogged.

With a healthy throat chakra, you boldly ask for a raise, state your prices and you feel your worth in money matters. With a blocked throat chakra, you will dislike discussing money, you don't demand money that is due to you, and you dislike discussing price increases.

With a healthy brow chakra you can mentally visualize abundance, or spending your money and helping others. With a blocked brow chakra it is difficult to visualize yourself having money, or enjoy yourself while spending the money or helping others.

With a healthy crown chakra you know you have the right to create as much money as you like, and to spend it as you wish. You feel that you own and control the money. With a blocked crown chakra you feel like you need permission before making any money related moves. You feel like money controls you.

Why Raising Your Vibration to Attract More of What You Want...

Blocked/clogged chakras are sluggish and they do not function well, leading to financial lack.

Clearly it is necessary to keep the chakras clean and healthy. One way of doing that is to raise the vibration of the body. With increased vibration the chakras will spin at a higher frequency, removing all blockages. Once the chakras are healthy and balanced again, money flows into your life again.

Abundance is a process of letting go; that which is empty can receive ~ Bryant H. McGill